NA.VI. 03 – Sustainable, virtual, holistic, scheduled, innovative, online

As a woman, would you like to find out where your professional life is taking you? Then NA.VI. is the right place for you. Here you can get a taste of the various areas without obligation and try out what you really like. The digital skills workshop supports you in learning new ways of working and with your application documents. You can also improve their language skills through practical work.

What do you personally gain from this?

In this project, you can try out which areas you particularly enjoy and where your personal strengths lie. You will acquire important key skills and strengthen your ability to work in a team. This will prepare you for further training or direct employment in a wide variety of fields.

If required, they also receive support with language acquisition, practical and theoretical instruction in IT-based work, universal language courses (music, sport, art), job application training and counselling on personal matters (e.g. support in clarifying childcare options).
